Explain the word (you may have to look it up):

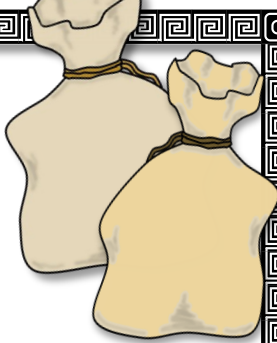

The Story of the Two Bags

Read the text and choose the right answers to the questions below.

The wisdom of the ancient Greeks tells us, that everybody is born with two bags hanging from their necks. One on the back and one on the chest. Both bags are full of errors and mistakes.

The one on the chest is filled with the errors and mistakes of other people and the one on the back is filled with the errors and mistakes of ourselves.

This is why people cannot see their own flaws - but cannot take their eyes of the flaws of other people.

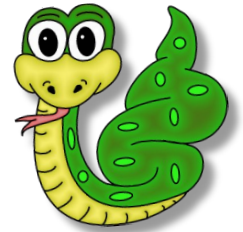

Choose your answers and discover the code below
